FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AirShares Elite gets on board with ERTHNXT Destination: “Flying Green”

Non-profit partner provides carbon emission offset program by helping kids plant trees.

December 1, 2007 – AirShares Elite, a professionally managed shared ownership company, is now “flying green.”

Partnering with ERTHNXT, a non-profit whose mission is to educate children to care for their environment, AirShares Elite will offer clients a chance to offset carbon emissions through ERTHNXT’s tree planting program with children and young people.

“We love this partnership,” said David Lee, CEO of AirShares Elite. “We looked at a number of ways to offset emissions. This was the only one that lets our clients reduce carbon and encourage the next generation to be better stewards of the environment. It’s a win-win for everyone.”

Airshares Elite is one of a growing list of businesses working with ERTHNXT to offer clients the option of going green.

“Working with AirShares Elite to reduce offset carbon emissions is exciting,” said Janet Milkman, President of ERTHNXT. “In fact, we’re developing green partnerships with a wide range of businesses. It’s good for their bottom line and the environment at the same time.”

ERTHNXT’s flagship program, Trees for the 21st Century, expands the world’s number of trees, and gives children an appreciation of how trees contribute to a healthier planet.

ONE PLANET. ONE FUTURE. SEND THE MESSAGE.

“By teaching kids to plant and care for trees, we make a critical contribution to the planet – and to our kids’ future,” said Milkman.
